A user can be an administrator or another person that has been authorized by the account holder to use Eurocard Single-Use Account

3. Approval of application and issuing of Eurocard Single-Use Account

Access to Eurocard Single-Use Account requires an approved application for a Eurocard Single-Use Account following a specific assessment. Credit information may be obtained by Eurocard in connection with such assessments and during the term of the agreement. Eurocard may request information, including financial statements, from the account holder in connection with such assessment.

An agreement on Eurocard Single-Use Account is entered into on the day on which Eurocard approves the account holder's application for a Eurocard Single-Use Account and notifies the account holder through the administrator accordingly.

Revocation of the account holder's right to use Eurocard Single-Use Account shall not apply with respect to Eurocard until the Eurocard Single-Use Account has been closed.

The Eurocard Single-Use Account number and card numbers are the property of Eurocard and shall be returned to Eurocard at Eurocard's request.

4. Use of the Eurocard Single-Use Account

Eurocard Single-Use Account is intended to be used for payment of business expenses. Card numbers are generated in e-admin together with expiration date, CVC code and Mastercard Identity Check. It is not possible to generate card numbers with an expiration date of more than one year from the creation date.

Eurocard Single-Use Account can be used in situations where only the card number needs to be provided and no physical card needs to be present, e.g. in connection with purchases over the telephone, internet and by mail order.

In order for a transaction to be completed, the account holder must provide information in accordance with the requirements in point 6 "Authorisation of transactions and cancellation of payment orders".

The Eurocard Single-Use Account must not be used for transactions with a merchant if:

1. the merchant is the account holder's sole proprietorship,
2. the merchant is a trading partnership or a limited partnership in which the account holder is a partner, or
3. the merchant is a "close company" of which the account holder is a close associate (e.g. managing director or board member).

For security reasons, Eurocard imposes certain maximum limits per transaction and per time period and reserves the right to decline transactions if the maximum limits are overdrawn.

Eurocard reserves the right to decline transactions if suspicion of an unauthorized or fraudulent usage of the card. The account holder is aware and accepts that services, applications, etc. linked to Eurocard Single-Use Account under a current contractual relationship may be expanded, reduced or otherwise revised without any requirement for the consent of the account holder to be obtained.

The account holder shall appoint an administrator who is specifically responsible for administration of e-admin and Eurocard Single-Use Account. The administrator is responsible for the use of Eurocard Single-Use Account and associated account information such as the Eurocard Single-Use Account number, generated card numbers, expiration date and CVC code.

The account holder may use services that gives a third party providing account information services, access to account information. Such third party may only use the account information in accordance with the agreement between the account holder and the third party. Eurocard can refuse such access to account information in case of suspected fraud or unauthorized access to the account. The account holder will be informed about the denied access and reasons therefore in accordance with point 20 "Communication and messages", as soon as possible, unless providing of such information would be prevented by law or for security reasons.

5. Limiting Eurocard Single-Use Account

Eurocard Single-Use Account is always delivered with limitation flexibility, whereby the account holder has the ability to limit its Eurocard Single-Use Account products. Card numbers can be limited when it comes to amount, industry sector and number of purchases per card.

When Eurocard receives an authorisation request from the point of sale to determine whether the transaction shall be approved, it is checked against the limitations the account holder has placed on the Eurocard Single-Use Account card numbers. In the event that the authorization request exceeds the limits the account holder has set, the transaction will be declined. However a requirement for Eurocard to be able to decline purchases is that the point of sale seeks authorisation for the individual purchase and that the transaction takes place as an online transaction.

Every point of sale is obligated, according to transaction rules, to register a special code that indicates to which industry sector the point of sale belongs. In order for the desired limitation on certain industry sectors to work, the point of sale must have registered the correct industry code. As Eurocard cannot guarantee that the point of sale's industry code registration is correct, Eurocard cannot guarantee that the desired limitations for a certain industry sector will always apply. The account holder thus remains liable for payment even for transactions carried out at a point of sale belonging to a business that, in terms of its industry sector, the account holder has excluded in its limitations.

If the selected limitation does not work for reasons beyond Eurocard's control, the account holder is still liable for payment in accordance with applicable legislation and this agreement. The account holder shall ensure that employees are given information on any limitations on the Eurocard Single-Use Account.

6. Authorization of transactions and cancellation of payment orders

The account holder gives their authorization to carry out a transaction by making available their Eurocard Single-Use Account information to a merchant.

This may take the form of providing information in writing or verbally or in some other way depending on the technology being used, e.g. in digital wallets.

In some technical environments, transactions must also be authorised in writing, through the use of a personal code or Mobile BankID, or in some other way in accordance with instructions given in the technical solution of a merchant for the execution of a transaction.

A payment order may not be cancelled after the account holder has authorised the transaction. However, an account holder may – in accordance with what has been agreed between the account holder and the merchant – contact the merchant about an as yet incomplete transaction in order to cancel a previously submitted payment order.

Funds may only be blocked on the account by Eurocard if the Eurocard Single-Use Account information holder has given consent to the exact amount of the funds to be blocked e.g. at car hires or hotels.

Account holders may be retrospectively debited for costs that have arisen in connection with hotel accommodation, car hire or similar if, on ordering the service or in an agreement with the merchant, the account holder has been informed of and accepted such costs. In those circumstances, the account holder is not entitled to have the sum repaid by Eurocard.

7. Deadline for receipt and execution of payment orders

After the merchant has received a payment order for a transaction from the account holder, it is transferred to Eurocard within the timeframes established by agreement between the merchant and the merchant's bank (acquirer). Once Eurocard has received the payment order from the acquirer, Eurocard will debit/credit the Eurocard Single-Use Account with the transaction amount. This normally takes one to two banking days after the account holder has submitted the payment order to the merchant. The account holder should in particular note that a transaction may be posted to the account several days after the transaction is made.

Eurocard has no knowledge of and shall not be liable for the conversion that is performed into the domestic currency of the account holder. Please note that the exchange rate that is applied is often a less favorable rate than the one Eurocard would apply to the same transaction.
